RRB NTPC result 2016: Stage I result in October

The result of the Railway Recruitment Board's (RRB) Non Technical Popular Category (NTPC) recruitment exam is most likely to be released by October.

The RRB has stated that the first stage exam result is being processed as of now and will be released in a month. The second stage of the exam is likely to be conducted in November this year.

The date of the second stage exam will be released after the result of the first stage exam has been put out.

The Railway Recruitment Board (RRB) will release the updated answer keys and candidates' response on the regional websites of the RRBs in September/October 2016.

The answer keys and the objection tracker of the exam have already been released by the Board. The time period to file an objection is now over.

About 56 applicants registered for the exam this. Due to this large number, the RRB decided the exam will take place in two stages so as to manage the number of applicants.

The common CBT exam was conducted between March and May this year.

The Board had released the notification for the recruitment exam in December last year (advertisement no.: CEN 03/2015). The post had declared that the RRB has invited applications for 18,252 vacancies. Almost 93 lakh aspirants had sent in their applications out of which 56 lakh aspirants had been selected to take the exam via the online method.
