

Arunachal Pradesh State govt to go paperless by Aug

ITANAGAR, Jun 23: The Govt of Arunachal Pradesh is all set to go paperless by August 15 this year.

The e-Office suite will be made functional in the State Civil Secretariat after which there will be no manual movement of file. A Project Steering Committee and a Project Implementation Committee will be set up to ensure that the project is implemented on time. A comprehensive training module will be put in place to train all users of this application. Digitization of legacy data will be undertaken to ensure continuity.

The main highlights of this application is that all Govt files will be processed and decisions taken electronically by using digital signatures by all decision makers. File tracking system will ensure speedy decision making and transparency in decisions will be ensured.

This decision was taken during a meeting chaired by Chief Secretary Shakuntala Gamlin and attended by Principal Secy (Home and Personnel), Secy (IT), Secy (Planning), Director (IT) and Sr. Technical Director, NIC, New Delhi, Rachna Srivastava at Itanagar on Thursday.

Earlier, the team from National Informatics Centre, Delhi made a detailed presentation of the “e-Office Suite”- a successful government office solution developed by NIC, Govt of India. The application in addition to the file management system also has provision for Knowledge Management System, e-Leave, e-Tour, e-Service book, Information Management System and Collaboration and Messaging Services.
