

SSC CHSL 2016 Notification Delayed in Course of New Computer Based Online Exam Process

SSC CHSL 2016 notification got delayed from its scheduled issuance on 02 July 2016 due to finalisation of newly launched first ever computer based LDC, DEO, PA test by the Staff Selection Commission (SSC) at ssc.nic.in.

SSC CHSL exam notification will be declared soon! As per the latest update given by the Commission, the exam has been proposed to be held in computer based exam mode; the notification will be released after the completion of the formalities required for the same.

The SSC CHSL 2016 exam notification was supposed to be declared on 02 July.

Every year the Staff Selection Commission (SSC) conducts examinations at graduate and senior secondary level. Two of the major recruitment examinations held are SSC CGL (graduate) and SSC CHSL (senior secondary).

Every year the Commission releases the vacancy details, examination schedule and other details through official advertisements. An overwhelming response is witnessed for SSC CGL and SSC CHSL examinations.

All candidates who are waiting for SSC CHSL exam 2016 should get prepared with all necessary documents for applying. Till last year the application process was both online and postal.

This year SSC will recruit for more than 6000 posts. Vacancies will be available in lower division clerk, postal assistants, sorting assistants and data entry operators.

Candidates with minimum educational qualification of 10+2 pass can apply for the SSC CHSL exam 2016 at ssc.nic.in. Candidates are required to submit prescribed application fee by means of 'Central Recruitment Fee Stamps'.

In addition to this, the Commission has also delayed the SSC CHSL result 2015. No further update has been revealed for it as well.
